

Mark as Story: Retrospect and Prospect

Edited by Kelly R. Iverson and Christopher W. Skinner

Mark as Story: An Introduction to the Narrative of a Gospel, originally published in 1982 and extensively revised in 1999, was a turning point in Gospel studies, both for the contribution it made to Markan scholarship and for the methodological insights that it advanced. This volume celebrates Mark as Story and offers critique, engagement, and exploration of the new hermeneutical vistas that emerged in the wake of this pioneering study. In these essays, leading international Markan scholars discuss various texts and themes in the Second Gospel, reflect upon the rise of narrative criticism, and offer a glimpse at future trends in Gospels research. The contributors are Christopher W. Skinner; Mark Allan Powell; Elizabeth Struthers Malbon; Stephen D. Moore; Francis J. Moloney, S.D.B.; Thomas E. Boomershine; R. Alan Culpepper; Morna D. Hooker; Kelly R. Iverson; Holly E. Hearon; Robert M. Fowler; and David Rhoads, Joanna Dewey, and Donald Michie.

Kelly R. Iverson is Lecturer in New Testament at St. Mary's College, the University of St. Andrews, Scotland. He is the author of Gentiles in the Gospel of Mark: "Even the Dogs under the Table Eat the Children's Crumbs" (T&T Clark, 2007). Christopher W. Skinner is Assistant Professor of Religion at Mount Olive College in North Carolina. He is the author of John and Thomas: Gospels in Conflict? Johannine Characterization and the Thomas Question (Wipf & Stock, 2009) and What Are They Saying about the Gospel of Thomas? (Paulist, 2011).
